

European Masterclass on Inclusive Adult Education

A Success Story

In June 2025, the Learning for All project hosted the European Masterclass on Inclusive Adult Education online. The event brought together educators and experts from across Europe to share practical tools, strategies, and insights for making adult education more inclusive and accessible. The session focused on overcoming barriers and fostering learning environments that serve all learners.

Expert Speakers

Quality Assurance Insights from Anders Lundberg

Anders Lundberg from Nordiskt Valideringsforum presented a session on quality assurance in adult learning. He introduced the OCN framework, which validates learning outcomes and ensures quality education. Anders showed how using a structured framework can help maintain high standards while supporting inclusion in adult education.

Interactive Workshops and Networking

Participants engaged in activities focused on inclusive pedagogies and strategies for migrant learners. The event ended with a speed networking session, enabling participants to connect and explore future collaborations.

During the masterclass, three key Learning for All resources were presented (available for free on our the resources page):

- Digital Benchmarking Tool - A self-assessment tool to evaluate accessibility and inclusion, with a customised action plan. Available in 5 languages.
- Community Outreach Toolkit - Strategies to improve outreach and engagement with socially disadvantaged or non-native adults.
- Capacity Building Course & Hub - A free, self-paced online course with six modules covering inclusive pedagogy, bias awareness, and outreach strategies, supported by a community hub for peer exchange.
